

BERLIN RETICENT REGARDING NOTE

No Expression of Opinion is Obtainable From

SITUATION IS GRAVE

Seems Little Hope That Answer
Can Go to the Length Demanded By U. S. Government

EXPECT REPLY NEXT WEEK

BERLIN, April 21.—Via London, April 22.—Nothing has yet developed as a result of the receipt of the American note to Germany concerning Germany's submarine warfare. No expression of opinion is obtainable from the foreign office, where absolute reticence is maintained. Neither the note nor any reference to it has been published in Germany and there is no intimation as yet when the note will be made public. The celebrations of Holy Week and of Easter, therefore are proceeding undisturbed by any knowledge of foreign complications.

The ministers and other officials who were entitled to it received a copy of the note this morning and were engaged during the day in studying the document.

Situation Extremely Grave.

As far as the Associated Press has been made acquainted with the sentiment in higher quarters, it would be wrong to regard the situation as anything but extremely grave. The note probably will be answered some time next week after serious consideration has been given the American contention, but there is little hope that any answer can go to the length demanded by the Washington government, despite the fact that the government desires to maintain good relations with the United States.

The sentiment is against any further weakening of Germany's submarine campaign, to say nothing of an abandonment of it.

Reports Delivery of Note.

Washington April 21.—Ambassador Gerard at Berlin called the state department today that he had delivered the American note on submarine warfare to the German foreign office at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Secretary Lansing said later he had not been advised just when a reply might be forthcoming. Other officials, however, indicated they expected it by the middle of next week.

Ambassador Gerard is known to have entered into a brief conversation with Foreign Minister von Jagow after delivering the communication. Altho the contents of a second message received last night from Mr. Gerard, was closely guarded, it is understood that the ambassador informed the department he had been assured immediate consideration would be given to the note.

It became known tonight that several messages have been received from Ambassador Gerard during the past day or so. It was stated authoritatively however that they transmitted only expressions of editorial opinion from German newspapers. These editorial excerpts were closely examined by officials in an attempt to gain some understanding of the state of German public opinion.

Expect Dispatches Momentarily.

Dispatches from the ambassador are looked for momentarily to give definite information regarding the views of German officers, the manner in which the note was received and forecasts of the action which will be taken by the German government in response to the demand of the United States that it declare and effect an abandonment of the present methods of conducting submarine warfare.

Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador was not in Washington today. He left early this morning on a week-end trip. He is not expected to return to the capital until Monday unless dispatches of an important nature bearing on the submarine issue should be received before then. The German embassy is sending many informative dispatches to Berlin. The majority of those sent so far have contained interpretations on public and official opinion and the ambassador's own views on the situation. It is known that Count von Bernstorff has strongly recommended to his government that it so modify submarine warfare as to bring it within what the United States regards to be the law.

Toledo, O., April 21.—Roger Bresnahan of the Toledo American association club announced today that he has purchased Paul Strand, a left handed pitcher from the Boston Nationals.

DEMOCRATS ENDORSE WILSON AND DUNNE

WHAT FIGHTING IS DONE OCCURS IN COMMITTEE MEETINGS

One feeble "No" on Resolution Endorsing Administration is the Only Inharmonious Word Raised in State Convention.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 21.—One feeble "No" on resolutions endorsing President Wilson and the administration headed by Governor Dunne was the only inharmonious word raised in the Democratic state convention here today in the state arsenal.

What fighting was done occurred behind closed doors in committee meetings but everything in the convention hall was cumulative evidence of the control of the Democratic party in Illinois by Roger Sullivan, former Democratic National committeeman.

Endorse Wilson and Dunne. Resolutions endorsing President Wilson and the administration of Governor Dunne were adopted by the convention with but one dissenting vote. The identity of the author of that particular "no" remained an undiscovered and anonymous echo of a resolutions committee fight over the inclusion of the endorsement of the state administration. The fight to endorse the Dunne administration was led by State Senator Kent Keller of Ava.

Attorney General Patrick J. Lucey of Streator, elected temporary chairman of the convention in the morning at a meeting of the state central committee was made permanent chairman of a resolution of the committee on permanent organization which provided that all temporary officers be made the permanent officers of the convention.

The other officers were: Isaac B. Craig, Mattoon, secretary; T. F. Russell, Pana, assistant secretary and Jerry J. Kane, East St. Louis, sergeant at arms.

Leave Nominations to Committee.

Nominations and a platform were left to committees which are to make their recommendations to the convention when it meets here September 26th., with a wider intelligence due to the results at the September primary.

Roger Sullivan was elected chairman of the Illinois delegates to the Democratic national convention at St. Louis set at a meeting of the delegates held here before the convention assembled.

Altho scheduled to convene at noon it was three o'clock when the convention was called to order. The delay was due to the Cook county delegation numbering about 300, which came down from Chicago several hours late on a special train and marched to the arsenal headed by a brass band.

Their was about the only demonstration of that sort during the day. Once seated they wasted no time in beginning to shout for "Roger."

Chairman Lucey delivered a long "keynote" speech in which he reviewed the administration of President Wilson, pointed out the dangers confronting the country at present and closing with the maxim of Abraham Lincoln, "It is not best to swap horses when crossing a stream."

Dunne Addresses Convention.

Governor Dunne addressed the convention and told what has been done in Illinois under his guidance during the last four years. He was followed by Congressman Elsa Williams of Pittsfield, who earlier in the day had announced his candidacy for governor.

Congressman Williams said he was disappointed because he had been unable to learn who would be the opposing candidates at the primary.

"But as for me," he said, "I am ready to go in swimming—water cold or warm. I'll take my chances with the Democratic party no matter what I think of its chances for winning."

The members of the convention cheered Congressman Williams when he said that now American soldiers are in Mexico he took the stand they should remain there until peace and order are restored in Mexico.

"There was no denying the shouts of the Cook county delegation for 'Roger! Roger!' and Chairman Lucey summoned the Democratic leader to the rostrum and introduced him as 'the man, who more than anyone else had Woodrow Wilson nominated at Baltimore.'"

Several white pigeons, presumably intended to represent doves of peace, were released in the vicinity of Mr. Sullivan, but contrary to the supposed expectations of the stage crafty person in charge they did not alight on his shoulders but flew to the steel girders supporting the roof, where the tobacco haze was slightly less thick.

Sullivan Praises President.

Mr. Sullivan praised the president's course in international affairs and urged his supporters to begin immediately to work "for the reelection of Woodrow Wilson."

The resolution committee announced at the conclusion of Mr. Sullivan's speech that it was ready to report and its chairman then read a message of loyalty to President Wilson which the convention ordered telegraphed to the white house. The message follows:

"The Democracy of Illinois: in convention assembled sends greetings to the president of the United States and pledges its loyalty to him and its faith in his ability to guide our nation safely thru the present crisis."

The resolutions endorsing the president, the administration headed by Governor Dunne and Senator Lewis and such Democratic Congressmen as have supported the president.

The convention adjourned to meet September 26th., and the majority of the delegates hurried to catch special trains which were awaiting them. The convention was in session less than three hours.

BELIEVES BACON WROTE SHAKESPEAREAN WORKS

JUDGE MAKES DECLARATION IN DIS-
SOLVING INJUNCTION

Court Awards Damages to George Fabyan Because of Injunction Restraining Him From Completing Publication of Series of Books Supporting Baconian Theory.

Chicago, April 21.—Supporters of the contention that Francis Bacon was the author of the words credited to William Shakespeare, received judicial backing here today when Judge Richard S. Tutbill, in the circuit court, declared he believed Lord Bacon was the author of the Shakespearean works. The declaration was made by the court in dissolving an injunction issued on the petition of William N. Selig, motion picture manufacturer, to restrain George Fabyan, publisher, and Kate E. Wells and Elizabeth Wells Gallup, from completing the publication of a series of books supporting the Baconian theory.

The court also awarded $5,000 damages in favor of Mr. Fabyan and against Mr. Selig because of the temporary injunction.

The court found "that the claim of friends of Francis Bacon that he is the author of said works of Shakespeare and that the facts and circumstances in the vast bibliography of the controversy over the question of authorship and the proofs submitted herein, convince the court that Francis Bacon, is the author."

Judge Tutbill in his decision further said in part:

"That William Shakespeare was born April 23, 1564; that he went to London about 1586 or 1587, that for a time thereafter he made his living working for Burbage; that he later became an actor in Burbage's theater and in traveling theatrical companies; that he retired about 1609 or 1610 to live in Stratford-on-Avon, where he engaged in business to the time of his death on April 23, 1616, and that Shakespeare was not an educated man, were allegations which the court finds true."

"The court further finds that Francis Bacon was born Jan. 26, 1560, that he was educated not only in English, but in French, Latin, Italian, German, and had a general education equal or superior to any one of his age; that he was the compiler of a book on 1,500 axioms and phrases selected from the greatest authors and books of all time."

"The court further finds that by the published and acknowledged works of Francis Bacon there is given a cipher which Bacon devised in his early youth when in Paris, called the 'Biliteral Cipher'; that the witness, Elizabeth Wells Gallup, has applied that cipher according to the directions left by Francis Bacon and has found that the name and character of Shakespeare were used as a mask by Francis Bacon to publish philosophical facts, stories and statements contributing to the literary renaissance in England which has been the glory of the world."

Mr. Selig alleged that the publication of the book tending to prove that Bacon wrote the Shakespeare plays would injure him in his project of making moving pictures of plays commonly attributed to Shakespeare.

JAPAN RENEWS OBJECTIONS TO PENDING IMMIGRATION BILL

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Japan has renewed her objection to provisions in the pending immigration bill which are construed as virtually enacting into law the celebrated Root-Takahira agreement for the restriction of immigration to the United States and as including Japanese with Hindus in an excluded class. The administration it was said today fears no difficulty in arranging the terms of the bill so as to avoid wounding Japanese feeling and to that end President Wilson soon will confer with house and senate leaders.

Viscount Chinda, the Japanese ambassador who already has left two memoranda with the state department on the subject, conferred today with President Wilson by appointment which was made ten days ago.

our nation safely thru the present crisis."

The resolutions endorsing the president, the administration headed by Governor Dunne and Senator Lewis and such Democratic Congressmen as have supported the president.

The convention adjourned to meet September 26th., and the majority of the delegates hurried to catch special trains which were awaiting them. The convention was in session less than three hours.

FIELD MARSHAL VON DER GOLTZ DIES AT HIS ARMY HEADQUARTERS

Commander of First Turkish Army Has Been Ill Ten Days With Spotted Fever.

Amsterdam, April 21.—Via London, April 22.—Baron Kolmar von der Goltz, commander-in-chief of the first Turkish army, died Wednesday of spotted fever at the headquarters of his Turkish army, according to an official announcement received here from Berlin. He had been ill ten days.

Field Marshal von der Goltz was regarded as one of Germany's greatest strategists. He was 72 years old. He had seen extensive military service, having fought in the Austrian campaign and been on the staff of Prince Frederick Charles in the Franco-Prussian war. In 1883 he was sent to reconstruct the Turkish army and remained in Turkey for thirteen years.

In August, 1914, he was appointed military governor of the occupied part of Belgium, but in November of the same year he was relieved of his command and sent to Turkey, where he was appointed military commander at Constantinople and acting minister of war. He was instrumental in forming the strong Turkish defense on the Gallipoli peninsula and frequently predicted that the allied fleet would not be able to force a passage of the Dardanelles. He received his command as chief of the first Turkish army in April of last year when he succeeded General Lyman von Sanders in command of the Dardanelles.

Recent dispatches reported Field Marshal von der Goltz engaged in the operations in Asiatic Turkey. Before the fall of Ezerum he was said to be bottled up in that Turkish stronghold with 80,000 Turks.

GERMANS BOMBARD FRENCH POSITIONS

NO INFANTRY ENGAGEMENTS TAKE PLACE AROUND VERDUN

Paris Reports Occupation of Mine Crater in the Argonne Forest—Petrograd Reports Caucasus Army Continues on Offensive Against Turks.

On all the fronts around Verdun the Germans are heavily bombarding French positions especially those occupied by the French in their last attack around Lemort Homme, northwest of the fortress and in the sector from the eastern bank of the Meuse to Fort Vaux. No infantry engagements have taken place around Verdun, altho Paris records the occupation of a portion of a crater made by a German mine in the Argonne forest.

The Teutons in East Galicia near Popovagora went on the offensive against the Russians, but Petrograd asserts that their efforts were without result.

The bombardment by the Germans of the Russians holding the Ikskull bridgehead is still in progress. Farther south of this point, west of Olyka nad north of Moutivat, the Germans essayed an attempt against Russian trenches but were repulsed.

On the Austro-Italian front there have been the usual artillery duels and at various points small infantry engagements. At no point however has any important change in position taken place.

Petrograd reports that the Russian Caucasus army continues on the offensive against the Turks in the Black Sea district of Asia Minor. Constantinople, in acknowledging the occupation of Trebizond by the Russians, says the town already had been evacuated in anticipation of its capture, the Turkish troops withdrawing "in accordance with instructions" to a sector where they will have a new task to fulfill. Another defeat of the British in the Tigris region near Felahie is reported by Constantinople. The British are declared to have been forced to abandon with heavy losses advanced positions they had occupied and compelled to retreat westward.

UPHOLDS WOMEN'S RIGHT TO VOTE IN LOCAL OPTION ELECTIONS

Appellate Court States Women May Vote at Any Referendum Election Not Involving a Constitutional Issue.

Springfield, Ill., April 21.—The state appellate court today in a decision in the case of the People of the State against Henry Ermovich upholds the right of women to vote in local option elections.

Ermovich was found guilty at Pana, Ill., Christian county, of selling liquor in anti-saloon territory. He was said to be president of a so-called "lid" club. He was fined $100 and sentenced to spend 30 days in jail.

Upon appeal, one of his contentions was that Pana was not dry territory, since a majority of the men voted for the saloons and the women, who voted a majority against the saloons, could not legally vote at such an election. The court states that women may vote at any referendum election not involving a constitutional issue.

Ermovich's case was reversed and remanded, however, as the court holds he had in effect been compelled to testify against himself when a subpoena duces tecum, calling upon him to produce his liquor tax stamp, was presented in court. This, the court holds, is a violation of the federal constitution that a man shall not be compelled to testify against himself.

DANIELS ORDERS SPEEDING UP OF WORK ON ATLANTIC SHIPS

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Orders to speed up repair and overhaul work on vessels of the Atlantic fleet have been sent to the commandants of the various navy yards by Secretary Daniels. In case of labor shortage the commandants are instructed to expedite the work by employing the ship's personnel.

The move was explained as a "preparedness test" the execution of which would illustrate how quickly the vessels could be restored to normal condition after their strenuous winter operations and placed in readiness for the battle practices and maneuvers beginning May 20.

Secretary Daniels said the officials were experiencing great difficulty in securing laborers at government wages and also by delay in delivery of materials ordered for repair work and construction of the vessels now being built.

NEW COMBINATION CONTROLS STATE G.O.P

FIGHT OVERSHADOWS PROCEEDINGS OF CONVENTION

Thompson Votes with Sherman-Lowden Faction to Make Fred E. Sterling Chairman of State Committee—Report State Likely to be Supported by Organization.

Peoria, April 21.—Control of the Republican party organization in Illinois was wrested from former Governor Charles S. Deneen of Chicago today by a new political combination which includes as its leaders Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman, Frank O. Lowden and Mayor William Hale Thompson of Chicago.

The fight for control of the party organization overshadowed in political interest the proceedings of the Republican state convention which perfunctorily carried out the program of the new combination.

The state convention endorsed Senator Sherman for president, nominated 29 presidential electors and then adjourned to re-convene in Peoria, Sept. 19th., when the delegates will conclude their business by nominating three university trustees and adopting a party platform.

The fight for control of the state central committee opened with the arrival of the leaders Thursday afternoon and was waged thruout the night. Early caucuses showed a deadlock between the Sherman-Lowden and Deneen factions. Mayor Thompson of Chicago held the balance of power with his three votes from Cook county and is said to have demanded the national committee of Illinois before entering any combination. Thompson was in position to make the Sherman-Lowden crowd accede to his terms and finally the deadlock was broken by Thompson voting with the Sherman-Lowden faction to make Fred E. Sterling of Rockford chairman of the state central committee.

It is expected that this development will also result in breaking the three-cornered deadlock in the Cook county central committee and that the Thompson and Brundage factions will unite against Deneen and elect as chairman, either W. H. Weber or Congressman Martin B. Madden.

Political state makers were busy discussing the chances of the numerous candidates for state officers as soon as the new combination was formed. The following tentative slate was reported likely to be supported by the new organization:

For National committeeman—Mayor William H. Thompson of Chicago.

For Governor—Frank O. Lowden of Ogle county.

For Lieutenant Governor—John G. Oglesby of Elkhart.

For State Treasurer—Len Small of Kankakee.

For Attorney General—E. J. Brundage of Chicago, or Richard J. Barr of Joliet.

For Secretary of State—Louis L. Emmerson of Mt. Vernon.

For State Auditor—Homer J. Ties of Greenview.

EXPERIENCE DIFFICULTY IN FRAMING CHARGE TO HOLD NEWTON

NEW YORK, April 21.—Difficulty was experienced by the police today in framing a charge on which a magistrate would consent to hold Harry L. Newton, the former munitions worker, arrested yesterday, who is alleged to have agreed with detectives to blow up munitions plants in Dunkirk and Canada. After three complaints had been discarded by the magistrate, Newton finally was held on a charge of having conspired with Henry Stempel, a detective, to blow up the federal building in this city. The magistrate held Newton in $5,000 bail and gave the police until tomorrow to produce Stempel to substantiate the charge.

SCOTT AND FUNSTON DISCUSS PROBLEMS

Chief of Staff Does Not Intend Going to El Paso or Columbus

PERSHING INACTIVE

Awaits Instructions Funston is Unable to Give Pending Determination of Policy

CABINET TAKES UP SITUATION

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, April 21.—Major General Hugh L. Scott, chief of staff of the United States army, and Major General Funston in charge of operations along the frontier and in Mexico, personally discussed tonight the problems that have grown out of the punitive expedition in pursuit of Francisco Villa.

General Scott arrived from Washington tonight and was met by General Funston, the two going immediately to General Funston's headquarters at Fort Sam Houston.

General Scott professed not to know whether the American troops were to be recalled without having captured Villa. He was sent here by Secretary of War Baker to discuss the situation in detail with General Funston and to make to the secretary a personal report.

Not To Go To El Paso. General Scott does not intend going to El Paso or Columbus. Officers here are convinced that General Scott soon will admit the futility of continuing the pursuit of Villa under the existing circumstances. It is believed at departmental headquarters that the investigation General Scott has been asked to make will not keep him here more than a day or two at the most since there are in the possession of Major Malvern Hill Barnum, General Funston's chief of staff, the details of the records of the campaign since the troops crossed into Mexico, and this was subject to General Scott's inspection tonight. If he decides to go to the border, however, another day will be consumed in travel and that much more delay made in the decision of the secretary of war.

Pershing Continues Inactivity. General Pershing continued his inactivity today, awaiting instructions from General Funston which he was unable to give pending the determination and announcement of the administration's policy regarding the punitive expedition. Secretary Baker's assertion that there has been no change in this respect and that the pursuit of Villa would be continued, was taken by military men to reflect the wishes of the administration, but unless important changes in tactics are used the pursuit of Villa cannot be efficiently continued they declare.

General Pershing made a brief report today to General Funston, informing him of the position of troops but no mention of activities either by Mexican or American troops was made.

Cabinet Discusses Situation. Washington, April 21.—President Wilson and the cabinet discussed the Mexican situation today but decided on no course of action. Further steps by the United States toward the pursuit of Villa or withdrawal of the troops from Mexico will await a full report from Major General Scott, chief of staff of the army as to conditions on the border and in Mexico.

General Scott who reached San Antonio, Texas, tonight, to confer with General Funston, was not expected to send a report on the situation until tomorrow. His full report upon which a decision as to the next step to be taken probably will not be made until his return to Washington. When he left here the chief of staff said he would make his investigation and return as quickly as possible. He could not indicate how long he might be gone.

Pending word from General Scott, Secretary Baker reiterated his statement that no change had been made in orders to General Funston and that the department had no knowledge of any change to the latter's orders to General Pershing. No official report had been received that the expedition was at a standstill. The secretary admitted that official despatches had carried as a rumor the report that Mexican officers had warned General Pershing not to proceed south of Parral. It was learned at the state department that a report to this effect was transmitted some days before the Parral incident thru consular agents.

Makes No Change in Orders. Mr. Baker insisted that the warning had made no change in the department's orders to the border forces.

It was indicated tonight that a reply to General Carranza's telegram calling attention to the clash at Parral and asserting that the American commander had violated his orders and the agreement with the defunct government in entering the

About Late Easters.
Eleven years ago, Easter fell on April 23, and after tomorrow it will not come again so late until 1943. Then it will fall on April 25, and will mark the most advanced Easter during the whole stretch of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. It will not fall due again on April 23 until the year 2,000.

The festival is fixed by decree of the Council of Nice for the Sunday immediately following the fourteenth day of the new moon which happens on or first after the vernal equinox. Under this calculation, Easter cannot occur earlier than March 22 and not later than April 25.

Bryan Loses in Nebraska.
Altho the final returns in the Nebraska primary show that Henry Ford was second and that Senator Cummins received the highest vote. In fact, he only ran 223 votes behind Iowa's "favorite son," and the result was just about as much of a surprise to the Cummins contingent as it was to Mr. Ford's friends.

But the most significant thing about the Nebraska primaries was the defeat of former Secretary W. J. Bryan as a candidate for delegate at large to the national Democratic convention. Affairs change rapidly in the political world. Just four years ago Bryan dominated the national Democratic convention and brought about the nomination of Woodrow Wilson. Now he fails to receive his party's support as a candidate to the national convention. Has his own conduct discredited him with the party, or does that vote mean dissatisfaction with the Wilson administration?

Up Go the Salaries.
That the statement of James J. Hill that after the war workers will be more interested in where they can find work than what pay they are to get, is a long look ahead, is indicated by the now frequent announcement of larger pay granted to industrial workers. The Willys-Overland automobile factory has just announced a voluntary increase in the wages of all employees to take effect June 1. The increase will benefit 17,000 employees and the rate of increase is higher for employees on the lower scales than for those drawing larger pay. The company's annual payroll under the new plan will be $14,300,000. The Youngstown Iron and Steel company has just announced a ten per cent increase in wages for employees and this is the fifth company of the kind to give such increase. The joint announcements mean more pay for 30,000 workers.

Increased salaries are always acceptable and greatly desired but have their disadvantages as well. While there are exceptions, the average man increases his expenditures just about as rapidly as his pay grows and when the time for a lower level comes it is difficult for him to re-adjust his manner of living.

FLOWING

I watch the farmer plow, he's busy at it now; he dilly dally with a hough. One minute he says, "Gee!" Next minute, "Haw!" says he; the mules, they haw, and strain and draw on the double-tree. The plow point strikes a stone, the farmer hears a clank, and then his mule surveys his risk, to find the broken bone. Then, finding he is whole, he takes a ten-foot pole, and prods the mules, and says, "You fools, such tricks I will not bide!" The plowshare does not scour, and he, for half an hour, suspends the lines and lams the mules with wondrous vim and power. To turn the furrow o'er—it is the oldest chore; the man's tilled the earth since Adam's birth, and will forevermore. And ever, as he walks, he picks up clods and rocks, in West and East, to pelt his beast, his horse or mule or ox.

May Change Enlistment Rules.
The enlistments for the U. S. army during recent weeks while a special effort has been put forth to secure men, have not brought anywhere near the desired result. It is very likely that in the effort to secure the additional enlistments called for by the proposed law increasing the army strength, that requirements for admission to the army will be less strict. Statistics show that five principal things have been keeping young men out of the army after they had made application—ears, eyes, heart, feet and drink. According to statistics 549 prospective recruits out of 6,102 were rejected because of defective hearing; eye trouble debarred 406 and heart disease 386. In the same number 288 were rejected on account of flat feet, and alcoholism was responsible for 222 other rejections.

The examinations have been very rigid in the past and an anxiety grows for additional recruits, while the rules of examination may not be changed, a certain latitude in enforcing them is certain.

School Question Not

a Personal Matter.
Let us hope that whether candidates for member of the board of education are "for" or "against" the present superintendent does not become the paramount issue in the coming school election.

The schools of Jacksonville are to pass under a new system, that provided for by the general law. The plan is approved by educators generally and if co-operative effort is given, the adoption of the general law will mean a forward educational step. If in the beginning of talk about candidates for board membership special stress is laid upon personal matters, the selection of proper members of the board will be greatly interfered with.

No man or woman has the right to seek membership on that board simply because "for" or "against" any individual school officer or teacher. No man or woman who is not actuated by personal bias will wish to become a member of the school board if the prospect is certain that there will be a period of wrangling and strife.

Those who seek position as members of the school board should do so because of an honest desire to have the schools of Jacksonville go constantly forward, and further, they should be conscious of a willingness to join with other members of the board, whoever they may be, in striving to accomplish the best things.

The coming campaign ought not to be a "for and against" campaign, and if the lines become closely drawn on any such proposition it will inevitably follow that the school system of Jacksonville will be injured. In this election let us have a "for" campaign, and let that be "for the best interests of the Jacksonville schools and the boys and girls."

POLITICAL NOTES.

President Wilson will journey to New Jersey on Tuesday to cast his vote in the primaries. The delegates on the ballot which will be handed to him are all for him. He will choose from the daisies in a weedless garden.

The naval appropriations sub-committee of the house is drafting the final form of the five-year naval building program of the administration, and the issue will be on the floor of congress next week.

The contest between the Roosevelt delegates and the old-line Republicans is making Massachusetts political history. The primaries will be held Tuesday. Senator Lodge is for Hughes or Roosevelt.

Ohio's Republican delegates, to be chosen at the state primary on Tuesday, will vote solidly for Burton. There will be warm state contests, despite this unity on national issues.

Arkansas Democrats have put up a university professor for governor, and his election is said to be certain. He is Prof. Charles H. Brough, who was a student at Johns Hopkins when Mr. Wilson was an instructor there.

The New York problem is now reckoned as the most important of the Republican dilemmas as affecting the presidential nominee. Eighty-seven is a big factor in a convention of less than a thousand. Hughes and Root sentiment is still equal, and the job on hand is to swing one way or the other before June 7.

MORTUARY
Smith.

Ellie Smith died at the residence of his sister in Peoria Thursday morning at 12:30. The deceased had been ill for a little more than a week with inflammation of the bowels. He was born in Pike county, Mo., April 19, 1894, and lived there until about 12 years ago when he came to this city. Not long when he went to Peoria for a visit with his sister, when the illness began which culminated in his sudden death. The deceased was a member of Mt. Emory church and of Malloy lodge, Knights of Pythias, and was an industrious young man of good character. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith, two brothers and two sisters. The funeral will be held at Mt. Emory Baptist church Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and the services will be in charge of Rev. Mr. Scruggs.

TO HOLD EASTER SERVICES.
Easter services will be held by the Pisgah Presbyterian Sunday school at Orleans Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

DECISION IN SCHOOL CASE BRINGS DISCUSSION ABOUT MEMBERSHIP

Various Persons Mentioned Declare They Have No Thought of Becoming Candidates—Petitions Are Necessary for Those Who Seek Election.

While no petitions are actually in circulation by persons who desire to have membership in the new board of education, it will not be many days until such formal action has been taken. Already there are many talked of candidacies and it is practically certain that a number of women interested in school and civic affairs will seek election. Of the old board George S. Rogerson thus far is the only member definitely stating his intention of being a candidate again. Among those mentioned yesterday as possible candidates were the names of Mrs. A. W. Becker and Mrs. W. T. Wilson, both of whom stated last night that they had not even considered the matter and have not the slightest thought or wish to be candidates. Two other women called the Journal to be certain that they were not mentioned as candidates and John W. Merrihan was another citizen who declared that under no considerations would he seek membership on the board.

Under the law a person who desires to be a candidate for president or for member of the board must file a petition ten days before the election signed by fifty voters of the district. These petitions are in practically the same form as used by primary elections and set forth that the person whose petition they are signing shall be a candidate for member of the board. The term of years for which membership is sought and the date of the election must be shown on the petition.

EASTER REVIVAL CAMPAIGN AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Pastor Gives Strong Address on Significance of the Three Crosses—The Program Sunday.

The Easter revival campaign at First Baptist church has met with very great success. Four more responded to the pastor's invitation last night and will be baptized.

There was an enthusiastic testimony service last evening preceding the sermon. About thirty rose, one by one, and gave the name of the person who led them to the savior. It was seen that personal soul winning is one of the most effective forms of Christian service.

Mr. Stephens spoke on "The Three Crosses of Cavalry" following which Miss Duncan sang, "The Pierced Hand." The choir also sang, "A Song of Victory."

Sunday will be a big day. A sunrise resurrection prayer meeting will be held beginning at 7 o'clock under auspices of the young people of the church and led by the pastor. The departments of the Sunday school will convene at 9:30 o'clock for a union meeting, an Easter program in the auditorium.

At 10:45 o'clock an Easter message will be given by the pastor. At 6:30 o'clock Sunday evening the B. Y. P. U. will hold a meeting, led by Mrs. Jesse Hastings and at 7:30 the Easter baptismal service will commence. A large number of revival converts will be baptized at this time. The baptisms will be followed by the beautiful Easter cantata under the direction of Mrs. Lucy D. Kolp of Illinois Woman's college.

At the close of the service Miss Bird Duncan will give her farewell solo, following a short message by Mr. Stephens. In speaking about Calvary last night Mr. Stephens pointed out that the three crosses are each significant. The second cross gives the picture of salvation, being provided thru the death of Christ, whose last words were "it is finished." It was pointed out that nothing we could do could help save, inasmuch as Christ has finished it.

Referring to the dying thief a picture of salvation being accepted was presented. It was shown that salvation comes suddenly, that it is not dependent upon the carrying out of Christian ordinances but upon looking to Christ. The other cross was used as a picture of salvation rejected and the these two thieves were equally close to Christ, only one was saved.

STATE NEWS NOTES.

To Share in Big Estate.—It was learned yesterday that W. A. Richardson, former city engineer of Edwardsville, will share in the $500,000 estate of Charles W. Short of Louisville, Ky., his great grandfather. He will be made administrator of the estate's Illinois property, located in Chicago, and valued at more than $75,000.

Must Hang for Policeman's Murder.—Harry King, 21 years old, convicted of murdering Policeman Norman Gray at Peoria, has been sentenced to hang June 17. The defendant has intimated an appeal would be filed.

Seek Parole for Bigamist.—Parole for James Morrison Darnell, serving a three year term in the Federal Prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., on a charge of violating the Mann act, is sought.

Darnell, a former minister, was convicted a year ago, after a trial at Milwaukee, Wis.

Decatur Plans for G. A. R.—Decatur may be the principal figure in a special poem turned out by the pen of James Whitcomb Riley or some other equally renowned present day poet if plans of the local G. A. R. committee in charge of arrangements for the Golden Anniversary state encampment in Decatur next month carry thru.

The committee wants a poem written especially for the occasion to be read at the campfire session to be held in Central Park on one night of the encampment. Various facts and thoughts have been written out for the composer to be guided by in writing this piece of literature. These facts relate to veterans of the war the peculiar bond of friendship between them, the organization of the Grand Army here fifty years ago and also tell of the wigwam in which Lincoln was first brought out at a presidential candidate and the fact that it is Lincoln's old home.

Cannass Votes Will Be Late.—The canvass of the recent primary election will not be completed, according to Secretary of State Lewis G. Stevenson, before May 20. Cook county returns invariably are late and this year a number of other

A COMMUNICATION
Editor of the Journal:
With your permission I wish to put before the public my "Commonplace Republicanism" in your paper. According to the circumstances I must begin with the first chapter and sentence of Cicero as follows:

"Quosque tandem abutere W. H. Thompson, F. Lundin, C. Deneen, Brundage etc., patientia populi Republicanae?" Until when will the names mentioned above abuse the patience of the Republican people? As an answer to this, until the Republican voters will find out at the coming election that the individual everyday fight for glory of the so called "Catalinas" of the party have ruined the Republican party and its chance for election. The candidates of trusts and monopolies endorsed by the Thompson-Lundin-Lorimer factions and other factions have absolutely no chance to get the votes of the business and laboring classes, but their is a certainty that a man like Andrew Russell, who has shown efficiency and honesty as a state officer, will be the choice of the people for governor. It is also a fact that Mr. Russell will carry the foreign element, which constitute the Polish, Swedish, Italian, Greek, Jewish, Roumanian, and German votes and which are considered as a good substantial number. There is a good opinion about Mr. Russell in Chicago and almost all over the state. The only thing left for Mr. Russell is not to pay any attention to the fanfarons (see Webster's dictionary) in public or otherwise and to go on heart and soul as the choice of the people of Morgan county and the entire state and in case he will not beat the other factions, then every Republican may know as a certainty that none other of the Republican candidates will be elected at the general election but it will be a Democratic governor again. And then every true Republican will have to whisper, "Quosque tandem abutere W. H. Thompson, F. Lundin, C. Deneen, Brundage etc., patientia populi Republicanae?"

Makes a man healthy, wealthy, and wise.
But to try this plan and nothing more,
Would make a farce of this metaphor.
For if you'd be healthy you must eat,
A liberal diet of good, fresh meat.
Your health is essential to wisdom and wealth,
Which makes every man consider himself.
When it comes to the kind of meat; and plan
To get it fresh from the Butcher Man.

An Everyday Cake

Here is a simple and inexpensive cake that can be varied in many ways with different frostings and icings. It looks a little nicer baked in a tube pan, but will be equally as good baked in a square loaf.

K C Gold Cake

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine.

1 cup butter; 1 cup sugar; yolks of 4 eggs, beaten light; 1 cup flour, less 2 level tablespoons; 2 level teaspoonsful K C Baking Powder; 1 cup milk; grated rind of 1 orange.

Sift flour and baking powder together three times; cream butter and sugar, beat yolks of eggs, add these to creamed mixture, and lastly add the moisture and flour alternately, beating batter until smooth. Gold Cake can only be made successfully by beating yolks of eggs, very, very creamy and light lemon colored, using a rotary beater. The rotary beater is the only beater that will do justice to the yolks of eggs. The beating kills all egg taste and improves the texture of the cake.

Cocoanut Frosting

Beat the whites of 2 eggs dry, gradually beat in half a cup of sifted confectioner's sugar and continue the beating until the frosting is smooth, thick and glossy; then beat in grated cocoanut, fresh or prepared, and spread upon the cake. This frosting is made thick by beating rather than by sugar.

Save this recipe. You will want to use it frequently. Or better, send us the colored certificate packed in each 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder and we will mail you "The Cook's Book" containing this and 89 other baking recipes equally good—all by Mrs. Hill. Jacques Mig. Co., Chicago.

BROMIDES

"There is considerable truth in the saying that the man who is popular with children and dogs is a safe one to trust," observed the druggist.

"There is equally as much truth in the saying that a man who parts his hair in the middle will poison his grandmother," said the village patriarch. "There may not be such a saying on the records, but it is just as full of wisdom as the one you quoted."

"As a matter of fact, nearly all the old sayings are gold bricks. Last fall Jabez Gangling invited me to make an excursion with him in his new automobile, and I gladly accepted, for there is nothing I like better than a ride in some other fellow's car. The trip was to last several days, and we had everything mapped out in advance."

"On the morning scheduled for our departure, Jabez refused to start, saying that the sky was red, and he quoted the hoary bromide to the effect that a red sky in the morning is the sailor's warning, while a red sky at night is a sailor's delight. He actually had unfaltering faith in that idiotic superstition, and I couldn't argue him out of it. So a beautiful day went by, and there was nothing doing."

"The next morning was afflicted with another red sky, and Jabez said he would consider it flying in the face of providence to start on a journey under such conditions. He would wait until the weather settled, and the signs and omens were shipshape, if it took all fall."

"Then, after two or three more red mornings, there came an evening when the western sky was crimson, and Jabez came over and told me we'd start in the morning. By that fine weather was assured. He couldn't have had more confidence in the outlook if the third assistant superintendent of the United States weather bureau had told him that the climate was going to be good."

"We started bright and early the next morning, and when we had traveled about ten miles it began to rain in all modern languages and dialects. I never saw the water come slopping down so profusely. The automobile slid around in the mud in a despairing sort of way for a while, and then took a header down an embankment, and dumped us both in a mudhole, and then rolled over on us, and held us there for three or four hours, until some farmers came along and hitched some mules to us and hauled us out."

"An experience of that kind should open any man's eyes, but Jabez was telling me just this morning that it's going to rain, because the pigs are excited."

CANADA TIGHTENS DEFENSE AROUND WELLAND CANAL

Discovery of Two Conspiracies to Destroy it Leads to Greater Precautions—First Attempt is Recalled

Ottawa, Ont., Apr. 21.—The anniversary of the attempt to blow up the Welland Canal, on April 21, 1900 finds Canada ready for the plotters who are again busy among German sympathizers on the other side of the border. The unfolding of two distinct conspiracies in New York aimed at the Welland Canal, within the past year, has brought a tightening of the defensive measures against daring conspirators. Even before the exposure of the plots, strict measures were in force, for conspiracies were anticipated, and the daring of Canada's enemies, however foolhardy, was recognized by the authorities.

Canadians are recalling today the circumstances of the first attempt to put the Welland Canal out of commission. This important artificial waterway is one of the great commercial arteries of the world. As such it holds high importance in Canada's commerce.

The attempt to destroy it in 1900 was committed in broad daylight. Three men from the American side had registered at a local hotel, near the big locks. They had been seen around the canal, and as they were apparently without business, they were marked men from the first. On the day of the explosions, two of the men were seen approaching the locks carrying heavy grips.

The lock which the dynamiters intended to destroy was No. 24, the lake Erie and the lower sections of the canal. Though the plot was carefully hatched, the damage to the canal was slight, and the canal was repaired within a few days of the explosions.

The three men arrested were John Walsh of Philadelphia, John Nolan of the same city, and Karl Dullman, or Dillon, of Washington. They were tried and each sentenced to life imprisonment.

At the same time of the outrage, it was attributed to Boer sympathizers in the United States. The Boer War was on in South Africa, and feeling ran high in certain sections of the United States. It was established, however, that the plot was hatched by Germans in New York, with the intention of striking at England through Canada.

Dullman, alias Dillon, who was the leader in the plot, was pardoned about a year ago and returned to his home in Philadelphia. Nolan was liberated a few months ago.

In August, 1914, another plot was hatched, either in Germany or in New York, to destroy the Canal. Capt. Hans Tauscher of the German reserves, the husband of Madame Galski, the opera singer, is accused by the United States government of this plot, with possibly others higher up in the German service. It has been claimed that Tauscher was sent from Berlin just for this job, and the check stubs of Captain Von Papen, formerly military attaché of Germany in the United States, show that imperial German money was paid to Tauscher.

In the summer of 1915, still another plot was laid against the Welland Canal, according to revelations in New York. That was the so-called Koenig conspiracy. Paul Koenig, chief of the Hamburg-American Line secret service, was the alleged head of the most recent plot, which the United States agents contended was aimed at the destruction of Canada's great canal.

INSANE PATIENTS MAY WRITE LETTERS WITHOUT RESTRAINT

New Order About Mail Comes From State Board of Administration as Result of Maddox Incident at Elgin.

In order to set at rest some of the exaggerated rumors which have resulted from the investigation of the case of Mrs. Maddox who was unlawfully confined in the Elgin Hospital for the Insane, the state board of administration has ordered freedom of the mails to patients at the insane hospitals. Mrs. Maddox was released from the Elgin hospital after investigation made of her case by A. L. Bowen, secretary of the state charities commission. The facts showed that Mrs. Maddox had great difficulty in communicating with the outside world. There is no reason for believing that there are many patients in the insane hospitals who have been railroaded there, but the Elgin incident gave rise to a great many rumors, and it is for the purpose of offsetting these and for the further purpose of giving additional protection to persons confined in insane hospitals that the new order goes into effect. Patients now have the privilege of writing to any one they please at any time, although in the past these letters are subject to censor. Letters received by patients are not censored.

NORTHMINSTER REVIVAL SERVICES SHOW INCREASING INTEREST

Rev. Mr. Spoon's Last Night Declaration Christ is Waiting for Room in Every Life—Some Classes Who Shut Out Religion.

At Northminster church last night another large audience was present for the evangelistic service and the increased interest was apparent. Rev. W. E. Spoon took as his text Luke 2:7 and his theme was "Christ is waiting for room in every life." He said:

Not long ago God gave to a family a little infant boy. The papers gave was worthy; and yet how he was received. Out on a cold door step, to the merciless winds of the winter they left him. No room in that family for the infant one!

It was with something like this same coldness that the infant Savior was received by men. Amid our advent of reflections there comes always a sense of surprise that the world did not give the new-born Redeemer a more royal welcome. He was worthy; and yet how he was received? "There was no room in the inn for them." That tells the whole story.

We blame people of the time; but how much better is it among the people in Jacksonville? Tho we may imagine it otherwise, the fact remains that a great many in our city have but very little room for Jesus yet. Let us think of Him as waiting for room.

Waiting for Room.

1. In our thoughts. Plenty of room for everything else in our thoughts but Christ. The mind of men is always more or less active, but multitudes give no place to Christ.

2. In our hearts. Such words as these are written over far too many fast closed heart-doors. And none of us make as much room for Him as we ought.

3. In our homes. It was to an inn that Christ was refused admission, but even in how many private homes, over the drawing rooms, dining rooms, parlors, and kitchens, we may look and see the same words: "No room for Jesus here." Husband and wife can sit and plan about worldly matters, but no room for Christ. They teach their children how to work, do business, make money, how to dress, how to act in society, but not how to worship the Lord Jesus Christ. No religious conversation, no family altar, no secret closet, no Bible reading. Let us make a larger welcome for Him in our homes from this time on.

4. In our pleasures. Over the door of Oh! how many so called places of amusement are the same grievous words written: "No room for Jesus here." But, remember, they are all over the places where the pleasures are most sinful; for Jesus comes to bring joy. The more we welcome Him amid our pleasures, the greater our joy will be.

Religion and Business.

5. In our business. You can scarcely find an inn literally, a hotel, a public house, where the words are not too plainly written up: "No room for Jesus here!" And even in general trade and traffic the maxim, "Business is business," comes so often in conflict with the golden rule that Christ is largely crowded out of the office, the store and the shop. Few are willing to admit Christ as a partner into their business. He would not let them to misrepresent their own standing. He would not let them take the advantage of the ignorance of a customer. Religion has business with business, and business has business with religion.

6. In our conversation. Even at our church social gatherings some people seem to think it out of place to talk of Jesus. He is given too small a place in the conversation of Christian society. Room for politics, business, neighborhood gossip. But none for Christ.

7. In our national politics. If there is no room for Christ in them no Christian man ought to engage in them.

8. No room for Christ in our literature. You take some papers and magazines? Yes. Do you take any religious papers and magazines? No; the fact is, the times are too hard. Room for the daily secular paper, for the novelists, the essayists, but no room for Christian reading and for Christ.

The One who at His advent found that this world had no room for Him, and who since then had been so much crowded out of the world, its daily conversation, its politics, its business, its reading—this excluded One comes again tonight to the door of your heart and mine—and asks: "Is there also no room for Me here?"

Oh, let us resolve at this blessed moment that from this time on we will make more room for Christ in our hearts and thoughts and daily living.

MONTANA PRIMARIES TODAY

Helena, Mont., Apr. 21.—Political interest of the nation centers today in the fight in the Montana primaries between two sets of Republican delegates. One is pledged to Senator Cummins of Iowa for the Presidential nomination, and the other is the "peace council," headed by former Senator John M. Dixon, who was the Roosevelt manager at Chicago four years ago. Today's results will be one of the most definite straws in the political wind.

Jackson misjudged Vitt's short fly in the seventh inning but after a desperate run caught it fell headlong, rolled over and then dropped the ball. Earl Pond then favored the audience with a vocal solo showing remarkable natural talents finely cultivated and so well did he please his hearers that they vigorously demanded another song which was graciously given.

The Socialized Teacher.

The principal feature of the morning was an address by Rev. Percy W. Stephens on the Socialized Teacher. Altho pressed with an unusual amount of arduous duties the gentleman found time to prepare an excellent address which deserves a full report and wide circulation. The address was interspersed with apt illustrations and telling anecdotes and gave great satisfaction. A few thoughts only are given.

In order to succeed in life we must have an ideal and for the lack of it many fail. There are four indispensable elements in the work of a teacher.

Education is necessary and that means not merely a knowledge of books, but of all that pertains to life. Of an eminent man it was said, He died learning; of a Swiss guide, He died climbing. I like the idea of the summer school for teachers as by it they get much that is useful in their calling.

The teacher should be consecrated. He should be a pupil of the great Master and he should see in each pupil a member of God's kingdom whose training is a matter of greatest moment. Much in this nation depends on the teacher and minister for they are entrusted with the guidance of the rising generation at a formative period of life and the pupils belong to the great King.

The teacher should be socialized and as Abraham was told from the mountain top to look in all directions to see the land that would belong to his posterity so should the teacher wisely view his work. In early days the church was evangelistic; later its work was to liberate the Bible; then it gave its attention to missions and now social service is its great duty.

Social activities are all important. There is in every child a certain amount of pent up energy that must have action. We should wisely guide the use of dancing and gambling if the young are not to be lost or fall into bad habits. We cannot avoid this responsibility and should discharge it in the fear of God.

Afternoon Session.

Mr. McClellan of the College of Music opened the afternoon program with a violin solo which was well received. Then Prof. R. E. Hieronymus of the University of Illinois was introduced for an address. His theme was "The Child in the Midst." The speaker emphasized the thought that there is possibility in these modern days as material improvements multiply to forget that the child is the real center of the educational problem. Improved apparatus and larger schooling facilities have their advantage and contribute toward the sum total of educational work. But these things are secondary in importance and will realize their highest good only if the teachers keeps in mind that "the child is the thing." In considering the child due recognition must be given to all-sided development and the child's present and future from mental, moral and physical standpoints must receive due consideration.

Prof. Hieronymus referred in his address to the "better community movement" which the department of the university with which he is connected is doing much to foster. The idea behind the movement is that the ideals and habits of the residents of any city improve and grow as due thought is paid to beauty and sanitation and to the matters which are deemed essential in our life of the present day. The growth of community ideals is, in fact, but the combined whole of the ideas and ideals of a majority in any community.

Following the address Miss Louise Gleckler of the department of expression of the Woman's college gave a reading, "The Courage of the Commonplace." The selection was one especially well suited for a gathering of those interested in educational work.

FOURTH TRIAL OF DR. HYDE TO BEGIN IN KANSAS CITY

New Evidence Is Said to Have Been Filed Against Man Charged With Murder of Col. Thomas Swope.

Kansas City, Mo., April 21.—The preliminary hearing in connection with the fourth trial of Dr. B. Clarke Hyde of this city, charged with the murder of Col. Thomas H. Swope, an aged millionaire and philanthropist, and father of Hyde's wife, will be held today. New information against Dr. Hyde was filed by the prosecuting attorney earlier in the month, and the doctor was rearrested.

Three trials have failed to convict Dr. Hyde of the alleged murder of his wealthy father-in-law. The first trial took place at Independence, Mo., and after one of the sharpest legal battles in the history of the middle west, the jury disagreed. A few months afterward, Dr. Hyde was again placed on trial, with the same result. The third trial, in 1913, also failed of conviction, and since then the case has hung fire.

The Swope mystery was one of the most sensational family catastrophes ever known here. On Oct. 1, 1909, James Moss Hanton, a cousin of Col. Thomas H. Swope, died mysteriously. Two days later, Colonel Swope, who was believed to be recovering from typhoid fever, suddenly died. His will was read on Oct. 9, and $1,600,000 was bequeathed to ten nephews and nieces. In the following December, six of these beneficiaries suddenly became ill of typhoid. One of them, Chrisman Swope, died on Dec. 6.

Dr. B. Clarke Hyde, husband of Lucy Swope, was the physician in attendance. He made out death certificates and the dead were buried without causing any comment. However, Mrs. Swope, widow of the philanthropist, did not feel that all was right. She ordered her husband's body exhumed and traces of arsenic were found in the stomach. On the strength of certain suspicions, Hyde was arrested. He was indicted on 12 counts in 11 indictments. Two of the indictments charged first degree murder in connection with the deaths of Colonel Swope and Chrisman Swope.

Witnesses testified at a previous trial that a few moments before Colonel Swope died of convulsions, Hyde had given him a capsule, similar to the cyanide capsules it was shown he had bought.

WILL OF MR. SPAULDING FILED.

The will of the late D. F. Spaulding has been filed in the county clerk's office, bearing date of Aug. 26, 1915, with Eugene D. Pyatt, Henry Waltman and J. O. Priest as witnesses. The testator directed the payment of debts and funeral expenses and for a suitable tombstone. All the property, real and personal, is bequeathed to his wife, Mrs. Mary Jane Spaulding, for life. At her death the property is all to go to the daughter, Julia May Spaulding, and remain in her possession all her life or until such time as she may marry. In event of her marriage the property is then to be divided into four equal parts, one to the daughter, and one to each of the three sons, Charles F., Orlo L. and William Spaulding. A deduction of $1,200 is to be made to the last advanced in the past. In the event that Miss Spaulding remains unmarried, at her death the property is to be divided into equal shares among the three daughters or their heirs. The same deduction is to be made in the case of William Spaulding as mentioned in the previous provisions.

INHERITANCE TAX IN MELENDY ESTATE

Judge Thomson has approved the inheritance tax report made by Earl M. Johnston in the estate of Malvina C. Melendy. The total tax assessed is $528.04. The report shows that Thomas McNeill, a nephew, received $1,000; Malcolm McNeill, a nephew, $100; Catherine McNeill, a grand niece, $100, and Helena Palmer Hudson, $100, all of which bequests are exempt from taxation. The American Bible society, the American Missionary society, the Board of Home Missions of the Presbyterian church in the U. S., and the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian church in the U. S., each received bequests of $4,400.47. There is no statutory exemption in the case of any of these organizations and the law provides a three per cent tax. This made a sum of $132.01 taxes against each of the four societies mentioned, bringing the total to $528.04.

WAITE POISON MURDER CASE BEFORE NEW YORK SUPREME COURT

Speedy Hearing Is Expected and Man Who Has Confessed Crimes May Get Swift Justice.

New York, April 21.—District Attorney Swann has announced he will appear today in the general sessions court and seek the transfer of the Waite poison murder case to the criminal branch of the supreme court. If the request is granted, it is expected that the actual trial of the sensational case will be reached within a few weeks.

Waite has confessed to poisoning his wealthy father-in-law, John E. Peck, a drug manufacturer of Grand Rapids, Mich., and to administering disease germs to his mother-in-law, thereby causing the deaths of both. He also admitted that he intended to go away with his wife, after getting her to make a will leaving the Peck fortune to him.

The Michigan millionaire and his wife died within six weeks of each other while visiting their daughter at the Waite apartments in Riverside Drive. A mysterious telegram from New York to Peck's relatives at Grand Rapids caused the first suspicion that everything was not right. An investigation was made, and poison was found to have killed Peck. Within a few days, Waite was indicted, and he was arraigned on April 10. He makes no secret of his actions and deeds, and declares he is ready to take his punishment.

While nothing is being given out definitely by the Waite attorneys, it is expected that the insanity plea will be utilized. Whether he was a dupe in the hands of others cleverer than himself is another matter of speculation. It is known that Waite has used drugs heavily, and that he had other interests outside of his home.

MRS. T. B. OREAR GIVES STORY IN PENDING SUIT

RECALLS VARIOUS INCIDENTS IN FAMILY RELATIONSHIP

Contention is that Property To Which Late D. Rees Browning Held Title Was Purchased With Partnership Funds—Claims No Division of Aunt's Estate Was Made—Gifts From Husband Large Portion of Sums Mrs. Orear Now Owns.

In the Journal recently there appeared a statement prepared by the late D. Rees Browning before his death, and which has been made a part of the records in the partition suit brought by Mrs. T. B. Orear. This suit is directed against the Farmers State Bank and Trust Company and Mrs. Ella H. Browning, wife of D. R. Browning, deceased. The suit is based mainly upon Mrs. Orear's contention that the farmlands which made up the larger part of Mr. Browning's estate were in fact owned by herself and brother in partnership, altho the title was vested in him.

The following statement was made by Mrs. Orear in connection with the suit and gives her version of the financial affairs of the family and her transactions with her brother. The statement, sworn to in the presence of E. D. Pyatt, circuit clerk, is in the following language:

Refers to Early Days.
"In making this statement, I shall not begin as far back as '76, but a few years later when we moved to the Hill place, and started a dairy and truck garden, selling fruit and vegetables from house to house, and exchanging for groceries at a number of stores. We raised calves, colts, hogs, chickens, sold milk, cream and butter, and eggs. My brother, Marcus, and I had the hard work to do, starting a great part of the time at four in the morning. I am sure any one in a similar business will agree that the work is hard and constant. My brother, Rees, worked in the Central Bank. The household expenses were paid from the garden products, and what was left over went into the common fund, and was later invested in land."

"My brother, Marcus, was a hard worker, never lost many days thru sickness until his final illness, and was often heard to say how it distressed him that I had to work so hard. When at times I would become discouraged and ask Rees if we were always to pay for land and never have any thing to enjoy, he would remind me that we were all partners and it meant the same to me as to him. Then I would pick up courage and go on."

"It is not necessary to reiterate all our trials and hardships during all the weary years, but pick up the thread later on."

Talk of Property Division
"Mr. Orear invited Ella Headley to go with us as our guest to St. Petersburg, Florida, and while there Rees told me he was thinking of asking her to marry him, at the same time saying if it would make me unhappy, he would never say a word to her about it. I urged him to do it, when he went on to say it would make no difference in the division of our property; that I should have my half as had always been understood. Later he asked me to come to his room and said Ella objected, and he was going to have a contract drawn up that would secure me. I thought at that time Mr. Orear had plenty and told Rees rather than have any feeling about it, I was willing to give up part of my half. He stoutly held out against it, saying it would not be just or right, as I had spent my life helping to make it. He spoke of my work in taking care of the old people and the home, and referred to the years I spent in the cellar working with milk, and the way I had saved. Miss Headley held out against my having my part until in a letter to her written after her return to Kentucky, he told her unless she could fall into his way of thinking, they would continue to live their lives in the mutual friendship of the past. She then signed the contract and he told me he had put a copy in my bank box at the Farmers' State Bank, and I supposed it was still there until I went to look for it after his death. Rees talked repeatedly to Mr. Orear and me of our lives of sacrifices, and how I had helped thru it all, and after reaching the goal, he surely could not take from me to give to any one who had never put forth an effort to make one cent of it."

"After my marriage, Rees lived with us for six years, without the cent of expense for board or washing and I did his mending. We three lived an absolutely harmonious life and Rees' devotion to and confidence in Mr. Orear was unbounded. Mr. Orear was very generous and frequently gave me large sums of money. Rees attended to all of my business for me, and often, when I would take the money given to me by Mr. Orear to deposit, he would say 'Sallie you ought not to expect so much of the Judge,' and I would tell him I never asked for the money; it was always a free gift from Mr. Orear. The sums of money with the interest on it amounted to about ten thousand dollars, instead of a few hundred as has been incorrectly stated. The money so given me by my husband constituted a great part of the notes and securities which I owned and which my brother managed and controlled for me."

Aunts Left Valuable Estates.
"Some time in the spring of 1909, I asked my brother if there was not some accumulated money due me, and he said he would look the matter up, and afterwards told me he had turned over to me 10,500 dollars which he continued to manage and control for me. Rees never gave me any information about the estates of my Aunts Eveline and Caroline Rees, and I never made any inquiry about the estate of either of them until after the publication of what purported to be a statement made by my brother. I then looked into these matters. I find that he was executor of the will of my Aunt Caroline, and that after paying the funeral expenses, doctor's bills, all claims against the estate, his commission and costs of administration, he paid over to my Aunt Eveline, sole legatee, the sum of $10,468.33. I have always understood that my aunts had the same amount of property. Aunt Caroline died in 1889. Aunt Eveline died in 1903. My brother Rees had possession and control of my Aunt Eveline's property from the death of Aunt Caroline until the death of my Aunt Eveline, and was executor of her will. The aunts lived with us and never paid any board. They were supported with the rest of the family mostly from the proceeds of the dairy and garden. Neither of them spent more than fifteen or twenty dollars a year for clothes; wore calico dresses which I made for them. They were very healthy. Aunt Eveline had one spell of sickness at the Hill place, and I do not recall that Aunt Caroline ever had a doctor until a few weeks before her death. I never heard of my aunts having any litigation. If as I always understood and believe to be true, my Aunt Eveline had the same amount of property as Aunt Caroline, then after she received Aunt Caroline's estate my Aunt Eveline was worth more than $20,000. She lived fourteen years after the death of Aunt Caroline, and therefore at her death, her estate must have amounted to $40,000. By her will one half of her estate was left to me."

Signs All Papers.
"Any papers Rees asked me to sign, I always signed without any question, and so did Mr. Orear. "We brought our furniture with us when we came from Kentucky, and when we moved into the house where I now live, we, Rees, Marcus and I, bought an oak dining room table and chairs, and two bed room sets, one of them Rees took with him when he married, and one bed we gave to Mrs. Layton. There were two iron single beds; one I have and the other he took with him. All the other furniture in my home except the old Mahogany which was my grandmother's, and mother's, and given to me by my mother before her death, has been purchased and paid for by Mr. Orear."

"We paid five thousand dollars for the place I now live in; after several years we sold three lots one to Mr. Rogerson for one thousand and two to Mr. Greenleaf for two thousand or more. When my brother was looking for a lot to build on, I gave him as a wedding gift, the ground where he put his house, and which in a letter to Miss Headley he said he considered worth three thousand dollars, so the original cost of the place had all been realized."

GREAT INTEREST IN REVIVAL SERVICES AT BROOKLYN CHURCH

Evangelist Johnson Preached From Text "No Man Cared for My Soul"—Service Tonight and Prayer Meeting at Sunrise Easter Morning.

At the revival service in Brooklyn church last night a special musical number was the duet sung by Rev. Mr. Keenan of Franklin and Rev. N. R. Johnson, the evangelist. Rev. Mr. Johnson took as his text Psalms 142: 4, "I looked on my right hand and beheld that there was no man that would know me, refuge failed me, no man cared for my soul." He drew a strong lesson from this text and the sermon was received with marked effect by the large audience present. The interest in the services has increased steadily.

Tonight (Saturday) another service will be held when the evangelist will speak upon "The Patience of Jesus," a sermon especially suited to the Eastertide.

As a part of the evangelistic program arrangements have been made for a sunrise prayer meeting Easter morning. It will occur at 6 o'clock and will be in charge of the Epworth League of the church. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend.

"FI-FI OF THE TOY SHOP" TO BE A MAMMOTH PRODUCTION

George E. Shaw Here Conducting
Rehearsals Says He Never Had a Better Cast.

Mr. George E. Shaw, of Chicago, who has been in town ten days rehearsing some of the best talent in Jacksonville for the Civic League's great home talent play, "Fi-Fi of the Toy Shop" said yesterday that he was well satisfied as he had ever been with a cast and that he expected to show the people of Jacksonville their representatives along dramatic lines at their best, on Monday night next.

The rehearsals the last few days have gone thru with a snap and vim which promises the ladies of the league that the result of their efforts will be crowned with success. There are over three hundred people in this gigantic production which makes it the largest affair of the kind ever staged in Jacksonville. The story deals with the dream of Bonnie, the toymaker's daughter, who while wandering in the woods near her father's shop had fallen asleep and had been overtaken by the Sandman who cast her into a magic sleep. She dreams wonderful dreams about the strange doings of the toys and dolls in her father's shop—Aurelia, a retired fairy presents her with a bottle of magic smelling salts with which she brings to life all the inmates of the shop. The toy folk have many wonderful weird and beautiful adventures, which Bonnie is permitted to watch and take part in until the morning light scatters the charm and awakens her from the magic sleep.

There are all sorts of toys and dolls in the shop which come to life and perform for the bewildered little girl, among them are Noah's Ark Animals, Jumping Jacks, Live Letter Blocks, China Dolls, Paper Dolls, myriads of little Christmas Fairies and beautiful colonial ladies who act as bridesmaids to the wedding of the beautiful and flirtatious French doll Fi-Fi, to the steadfast soldier doll Lieut. Timburt. Some of them dance, some sing, and others do both while about a dozen of the older and more experienced dolls speak for the little girl and talk about themselves in such a way that much laughter is provoked and merry time is had by all before the light of day takes away the spell produced by the ancient witch.

GOOD FRIDAY SERVICE AT TRINITY CHURCH

A large number were present yesterday at the three hour passion service at Trinity Episcopal church. The Rev. J. F. Langton, rector of the parish, was in charge of the service, which was highly impressive throughout. The pastor gave meditations on the seven words from the cross. Congregational singing led by Mrs. Andrew Russell proved most helpful. Miss Rose Bellatti was at the organ.

DR. BARTHOLDT DECLARES WAR WOULD BE VERY UNPOPULAR

Well Known Citizen Talks of Crisis
From German-American Standpoint — Cites Long Existing Friendship.

Dr. Richard Bartholdt, one of the prominent German citizens of our country and for a number of years a member of congress representing the district which includes St. Louis has given out an interview on the German-American crisis. Dr. Bartholdt blames England for the present situation and expresses the view that the American people would look with great disfavor on war as a result of the differences between the U. S. and Germany.

Dr. Bartholdt said:

Germany Long U. S. Friend
"I cannot imagine a war with Germany to be popular, with the American people," he said. "No war ought to be popular, but none less so than with Germany, a country to which we are bound by so many ties of blood, a country which has always been our friend, even in the darkest hours of our history, when all others had turned away from us, a country which has gone to the point of self-humiliation in order to meet our demands. We all know that whatever injury has come to Americans through her, was not intentional, but merely incidental to the war of self-preservation which she is obliged to wage against the most powerful combination the world has ever known. The right of Americans to travel on belligerent ships has been characterized by congress as 'a doubtful legal right', yet we are asked to break with a friend because of an incidental violation of that right. Will not the people ask why millions should be involved in war because of quibbles over technical rights and because some foolish citizen ventures into a zone of fire and is hurt? It is true, the president also bases his action on the broad ground of humanity."

A War of Humanity?

"But should we wage a war of humanity only for the benefit of England and not also for Germany? If humanity is to be the criterion, we should have declared war against England long ago, for she is engaged in the atrocious attempt to kill, by starvation, the noncombatant population, the women and children, of Germany. If we now join the allies, we will become partners in that murderous enterprise, will we not? The German Government has on several occasions given us the official assurance that its submarine war will be stopped the minute England will raise its blockade. This blockade we have ourselves declared to be 'ineffective, and therefore, illegal and indefensible', but we have not raised a finger to make our protest effective. Under international law it is a right of Germany to receive our foodstuffs, but we have voluntarily, it seems, waived our right to supply them. For one, I do not believe that humanity and war go well together. War itself is inhuman, no matter how conducted. Instead of trying the impossible, namely, to make it humane, we should bend our energy to abolish it altogether. That, in my judgment, should be America's mission in the politics of the world. Certainly we should not practice one-sided humanity any more than one-sided neutrality."

The American people, with the possible exception of a few Anglo-maniacs, hope, I am sure, for a peaceful solution of the difficulty with Germany. I strongly share that hope. If, however, war should come, which God forbid, we shall all be Americans. When Congress, in the exercise of its constitutional prerogative, declares it, war becomes law, which all must obey."

MR. AND MRS. M. VOGEL WILL END JACKSONVILLE VISIT

Former Residents Have Been in the City After Eight Years Absence.

Their friends in Jacksonville have been enjoying a short visit from Mr. and Mrs. M. Vogel, now of New York City. It scarcely seems possible that eight years have elapsed since they left their home beneath the quiet elms of West State street to follow their son into the dangers of the National Metropolis.

But Earl had gone there, and his parents followed, and now Earl and his wife and his parents have a quiet home in the old time precincts of Washington Square.

Earl, as the other boys whom Jacksonville has sent to the great doorway into America, is making good, and a credit alike to Jacksonville and Illinois college, and his parents.

Many persons here are not aware of the fact, but Mr. Vogel "wore the blue," and marched in Grant's triumphant legions for three years, serving in the 36th Indiana Volunteers. After that he tried Pittsfield and St. Louis and came to Jacksonville about 1867. Here he was first associated in business with "Dick" Richards, then with Heilenthal, Vogel and McGangloran and thereafter carried on his business on North Sandy street in his own name.

Somewhere in Illinois, perhaps right in Jacksonville, Mr. Vogel had the good fortune to meet Miss Alice Don Carlos, the daughters of the well known Rev. Mr. Don Carlos, of the Methodist Episcopal church, and the latter gentleman's duty that meant an extensive acquaintance with the map and people of Central Illinois. Meeting so, a bright lady it is not to be wondered that the young soldier wanted her, and

Mr. Vogel got her. Their home was here for years, where Mrs. Vogel had been graduated from the Woman's college, and had established a literary reputation especially, perhaps, with the Wednesday class.

But a son came to the Vogels, and was graduated from "Old Illinois", and he must have new fields to conquer—so his life was settled in our Eastern suburb on the Hudson and East river.

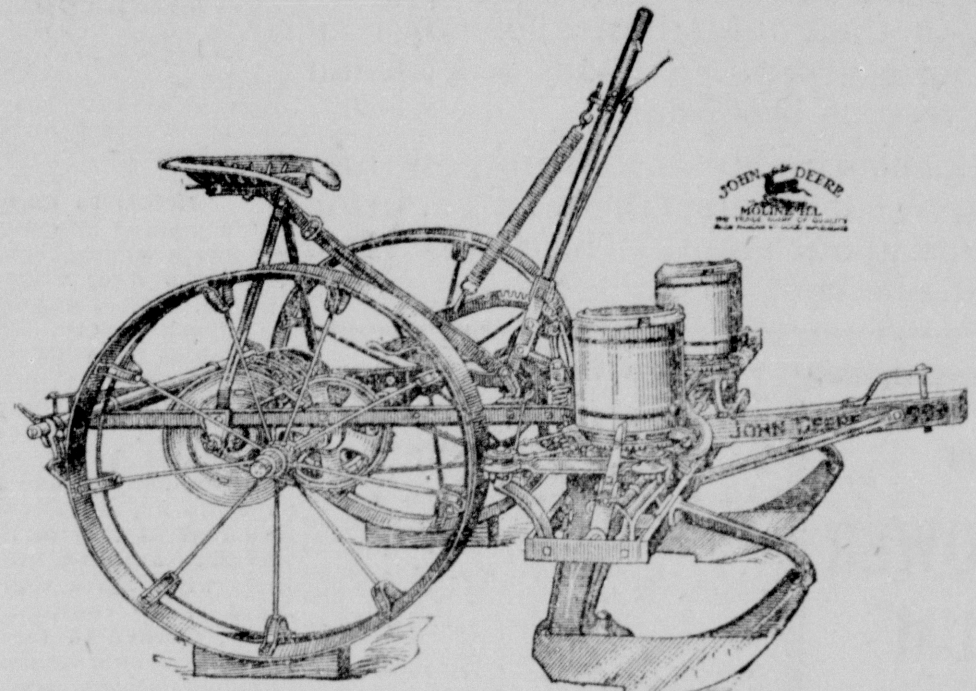

Today the Vogels have their friends here to fare away to their eastern home, accompanied by the best wishes of their old time friends.
